

Dead Sea Mud

Specification Sheet

Description: Dead Sea Mud is a natural mineral-rich product (silt) that is harvested from the shores of the Dead Sea. It contains various minerals, especially calcium, silica, magnesium, and iron. Smooth viscous black paste free from grit and sand. Natural characteristic smell. pH 7.5-8.9.

CAS: Not available

INCI Name: Silt

Benefits:

- The mineral rich Dead Sea mud help absorb excess oily secretions and clarify the skin
- Very useful to make purifying face masks helping to remove toxins and dead skin cells and encourage the skin regeneration process
- Dead Sea mud masks are well known to balance and calm skin irritation, redness and skin suffering from excess oils

Use: Can be added to formulas as is, usual final concentration 2-100%. For external use only.

Applications: Face masks, face powders, mud baths, shampoo, body deodorants, treatments for oil skin, peels.

Country of Origin: Israel

Raw material source: Silt

Manufacture: Dead Sea mud is harvested from the shores of the Dead Sea. The color varies from the dark grayish black to dark or even light gray, depending on the season and weather. Mud becomes light gray in summer and dark grey in winter.

Animal Testing: Not animal tested

GMO: GMO-free (does not contain plant-derived components)

Vegan: Does not contains animal-derived components